2.52.030. COST OF LIVING ADJUSTMENT.

(A.) Annual Adjustment.

The monthly salary pay grades and steps and pay ranges contained in the compensation plan herein shall be automatically adjusted by the Personnel Committee, subject to the approval of City Council, as to the method of calculation of such adjustment, annually hereafter, without further change or amendment of such compensation plan. Each such annual adjustment shall be in a percentile amount equal to the twelve (12) month average of the percentile increase or decrease in the cost of living computed at the end of the month of September in each year hereafter, commencing with 1977.

The first such adjustment shall be made effective October 1, 1977 for fiscal year 1978 on the basis of such twelve (12) month average for the thirty-six (36) months preceeding the end of September, 1977; and such adjustment shall be made annually thereafter, effective on the first of October of each succeeding year, upon the basis of such twelve (12) month average for the thirty-six (36) months immediately preceeding and including the end of September in the preceeding year.

(B.) Method of Calculation.

(1) The percentile increase or decrease in the cost of living in each of the three (3) successive twelve (12) month periods, from October 1 to September 30, immediately preceeding the date of calculation, shall be computed.

(2) The percentile increases computed as provided in subparagraph (1), above, shall be added together and divided by three (3) to obtain the average "yearly" percentile increase in the cost of living for the thirty-six (36) calendar months next preceeding the date of calculation.

(3) In making the aforesaid calculation, the Cost of Living Index of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics shall be used for determinations of the cost of living and changes therein.

(C.) Effect of Cost of Living Adjustment.

Increases or decreases in pay rates and/or ranges by reason of such adjustments shall not be considered as promotions, demotions, merit increases, or changes in position, or personnel actions, and shall not affect the employees' anniversary dates.
